Here Comes...

Here Comes... is a short piece for solo marimba composed for my sister Laura's wedding, to be performed by my percussionist brother Joey. Although we all get along very well, the three of us have very different musical tastes. So I struggled a bit with what to write for the occasion. I ended up basing the piece on material inspired by The Beatles' "Here Comes the Sun", one of the few songs that all three of us enjoy.
